The Lazy Days of Summer

The sun shines bright as you sit on your front porch or backyard patio, drinking an ice cold beverage enjoying the company of family and friends.

It's an image we keep in our minds as we go about our August days.

Take a large 'To Do' off your list by calling ACSI today to clean and inspect your boiler, burner or other heating equipment. Getting it done now might bring about 'The Lazy Days of October' knowing that your heating plant has been expertly taken care of.

Bigger Doesn't Always Mean Better

Now that I've got your attention, using a bigger boiler for a small boiler's job isn't always better. Some older buildings are beginning to invest in a small boiler especially during summer months when a big boiler is too much for domestic hot water heating.

The small boiler investment is easily cost justified by simply reviewing the monthly cost to run the larger boiler. It consumes a larger amount of energy and wastes just as much...or more!

In a time when we're thinking 'green' it's important to do our part in contributing to the conservation of energy. But let's not forget that it's also easier to maintain.

Call ACSI today to get a price quote and discuss your potential savings with a small summer boiler.
